RELEVANT FACTS

5. On or about June 8, 2017, a consignment consisting of 5,160 Cartons of Sweet Potatoes, laden in five 400 foot reefer containers, bearing numbers MNBU 0199133, MWMU 6427269, MNBU 3535355, MNBU 3283227 and MNBU 3551037, then being in good order and condition, was delivered to Maersk and/or its agents in Charleston, South Carolina for transportation to Felixstowe, United Kingdom, all in consideration of an agreed upon freight.

6. Notwithstanding the perishable nature of the cargo, Maersk failed to timely load the aforementioned containers on board a vessel until July 11, 2017, more than one month after the cargo had been first delivered to Maersk in Charleston.

7. The aforementioned five containers was loaded aboard the M/V MAERSK KOKURA and the vessel departed Charleston, South Carolina on or about July 11, 2017.

8. After the goods were loaded on board the subject vessel, Maersk informed plaintiff that its vessel would not be stopping at the port of Felixstowe, where this consignment was destined. Rather, Maersk informed that the containers would be discharged in Bremerhaven and would then be transshipped to Felixstowe aboard the Maersk Seletar on or about July 22nd.

9. The Maersk Kokura was delayed in its arrival in Bremerhaven and did not arrive until July 28, 2017, after the Maersk Seletar had already made her departure.

14. The physical damage sustained to the cargo was due to the failure of Maersk and/or its subcontractors to properly care for the cargo during the transit.
